MARKET FOR WOOLS
OF NEW MEXICO
GRADES BETTER

One Thing Right After Another Favors Growers of New Mexico's Most Important Range Product.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin, reviewing the wool market at the great wool centers of the country for the past week, says in part:

A report current on the street Thursday afternoon, to the effect that the British government had finally extended the wool embargo to cover mohair as well as crossbred and other wools and their products, failed to create much excitement. It is difficult to imagine what would cause the trade to "sit up and take notice" after the experiences which have come one after another, since the outbreak of the European war.

One wool merchant pertinently asked: "Who would have dared predict the course the market has taken since the outbreak of the war?" He then remarked that mohair was quoted out at a clean medium base of 65 cents at the close of the July sales in London, but since the war began available on hand, offers at 50 cents handled, and are now quoted 10 cents from London at 64 to 65 cents, laudated, for the best wools now available.

There is more unanimity of sentiment as to the market for the immediate future than was apparent last week. Current trading has been of larger proportions beyond any doubt, demand having been especially keen for foreign dressed wools. Best medium wools have also risen in better request and the market is better, particularly for medium to low wools.

Sales of domestic wools have been of moderate proportions and some houses which held the larger quantities of these wools, remain a bit trade during the week. Prices show little change from a week ago generally speaking, except medium grades are now perhaps a bit firmer.

There has been a fair business done for a few houses in territory wools this week, time for or territory medium wool is rumored to have been sold in the market, involving a considerable sum at 34 cents and especially of quarter-blood grade primarily.

Some business is reported in fine staple Montana at 22 to 23 cents. Hair blood staple is quoted at 22 and 24 cents and three eighths and quarter blood at 24 cents.

SHARP DROP CATCHES
CATTLE IN MARKET AT KANSAS CITY MONDAY

Kansas City Stockyards, Oct. 19.—A decline of 15 to 25 cents caught most of the cattle last week. Medium to common cows were an exception, some sales of western cows 10 to 15 higher late in the week. Veal calves sold steady to firm, tops $16. Receipts today are 32,000 head, not including 4,000 calves. Good cattle in nearly all classes are selling steady today, medium and low grades 10 to 15 lower. Texas and New Mexico furnished an extra large share of the run today. Oklahoma and Colorado contributing liberally, with comparatively light supplies from Kansas and Missouri. The Kansas men are not done, nor many of them decided to hold off this week. Best fed natives here sold at $19.25. Features of today are sales of range calves and yearlings. A string of New Mexico yearlings, 847 pounds average, sold to Clinton county, Missouri, at $15.40, netting the owner $12 a head. Hereford heifer calves from Texas sold to Illinois parties, 208 head, 118 pounds average, at $8.85. Of course the run carried a world of lower grade cattle at $6.00 up, colored beef steers sold at $6.90 to $7.25, steers and feeders, $6.20 to $7.40. Kansas took one half of the 25,000 stockers and feeders that went out from here last week. Missouri 1,000, Illinois and Iowa each 4,000. The Kansas men ran largely to steers weighing 800 to 1,000 pounds, sales under $7 predominated, and a world of medium to plain goods were bought under $6.50. Money matters are not so tight as a week ago, and released money naturally seeks investment in cattle, recognized as the most secure place it can be put. The costs of quarantining cattle today are 114 cents, steers ranging from $15.15 to $16.25, cows $15.50 to $17.50. The unseasonable cool and rather market is a rosier affair, local packers importing several big teams from outside points last week, besides raising everything here at stronger prices.

Trade apparently reached the maximum of the forced seasons last week, and packers seem content to let the market stand or fall on the legitimate influence of supply and demand. Accordingly, strong markets prevailed the last three days of the week, but today prices are 10 to 15 lower, because of a big run at Chicago, as indicating that packers have taken off their war paint, thus paid the top price today.

Sheep and lambs are selling steady today, receipts 17,000 head. Demand for stuff to make out is strong and a string of feeding lambs brought $6.85 today. Lamb feeders, however, sell at $6.25 to $6.50. Fat lambs brought $7.25 today, and fat ewes $4.75 to $5.75, prime ones worth 15. Young breeding ewes are worth 10 to 15.60 and aged ewes $4.40 to 10.

Considerable original wool has changed hands at about 55 cents clean for the new New Mexican fine and fine medium. Choice fine wools of the Nevada and Wyoming types are quotable at 46 and 58 cents clean.

Fine Montana clothing has sold to a moderate extent at 19 to 20 cents in the gins for average wool.

Chicago Grain.
Chicago, Oct. 21.—Liberal exports today brought about a material advance in the price of wheat. After opening 4½ off to 4½ up the market rose 1½ to above last night's level.

The close was unsettled, 1½ to 1½ above last night.

Prospects for severe weather gave firmness to corn. Opening prices, which ranged from a shade lower to be advanced, were followed by a decided general upturn.

The close was firm at a gain of 1½ to net.

Oats hardened because of reports that country elevator stocks were much below normal.

Lower quotations for hogs made provisions ease.
